

FROM INVERNESS:

From the Centre of Inverness, follow the signs for the A9, stay on the A9 north, cross the Kessock bridge, travel on till the Tore roundabout where you take the 3rd exit towards Wick. Carry on until you see a sign for Culbokie, turn right here, after a short distance turn right towards Knockbain/Munloch. On this road travel 1.1 mile till your reach the sign for Abalone/Culbokie Airfield, drive up this private road to Abalone and Culbokie Airfield.

& CULBOKIE AIRFIELD

Within the grounds of Abalone lies Culbokie Airfield, a 500 metre main runway (grass runs NNE-SSW) with secondary strip of 190m x 12m (grass runs E-W). The GPS navigational code is 57 35 13N - 004 19.07W. Please refer to our website for detailed maps. PPR for briefing essential.

The airfield has been designed for Microlight aircraft. Microlights are most welcome provided they have the necessary third party insurance cover. Pilots can fly on to Dornoch in the north, Inch in the east and Plocton in the west, to mention but a few.

Abalone is indeed an ideal place from which to fly to all corners of the Highlands and return to a warm welcome and home cooked food.

Abalone and Culbokie Airfield at Croft Feach is a large modern property in a rural area on the beautiful Black Isle near Dingwall. Set in its own grounds of 48 acres, it enjoys spectacular uninterrupted views south towards Strathconon, west across the Cromarty Firth to Ben Wyvis and north towards the Fyrish Monument.

